Information Disclosure Statement

Dear Sir:

The Applicants are aware only one other prior art device for protecting dispensing devices. This device, of which no known publications are available, is a rectangular box-like enclosure for placement over a printer. The top of the enclosure includes a slot formed therein. A printed order or receipt can be obtained from the printer through this slot. This device does not include a dispenser, hood, lid or any other mechanism for protecting the document feed path opening of the printer.

Neither the Applicants or the undersigned attorney are not aware of any other prior art devices which would be relevant to the examination of this application.

Respectfully submitted,

Date: 12/21/98
